To Whom It May Concern,

It has come to our attention that the Federal Communications Commission is considering expanding Low Power FM service. If LPFM service is expanded, new LPFM stations could take priority over current FM Translator Service, which is alarming to us. This means that we might not be able to hear a wonderful radio network which airs on an FM Translator in our Denver, Colorado area. We listen to the K-Love Radio Network on the 91.1 FM station here in the Denver area.

The K-Love Radio Network serves a vital need in our family, since its programming is family-oriented and encouraging. Our children enjoy listening to the music on this radio network as much as we do, and we know that they won't be hearing anything objectionable when this radio station is playing in our house and in our car.

If K-Love was to be displaced by a LPFM station, it would be detrimental to our family, as well as to our community, since we know many other families who also choose to listen to this radio station over the others available in the Denver area. The K-Love Radio Network serves the public interest because it broadcasts inspirational, family-oriented music programming, at a time when many radio stations are airing music containing profanity, or even worse. The children, as well as the adults in our community, need to have the option of listening to the K-Love Radio Network.

We are asking the FCC to allow valuable radio networks such as K-Love to continue broadcasting on FM Translator stations, instead of having them displaced by an LPFM station. We strongly urge the FCC not to expand LPFM service at this time.

The K-Love Radio Network would be a significant loss to us and to our community.

Sincerely,

David and Kim Barnes
